Yongjin Huang

Software Developer

Details

Wechat
Yongjin-Huang

Phone
18826234610

Email
keep_straight_up@foxmail.com

Links

My Profile

Skills

About Me

I'm Yongjin Huang, a software developer with a passion for coding and technology. In my free time, you can find me listening to hip-hop music, watching entertainment videos, playing video games, and of course, coding.

Education

Sun Yat-sen University
Software engineering
Aug 2013 - June 2017

Experience

Wilddata
Software Developer

Apr 2024 - Present

- Responsible for the setup and maintenance of continuous integration/deployment and container services based on Tencent Cloud and Coding
- Responsible for all backend development of the Super project, including integration with WeChat official account, points management, literature search integration, document translation integration, payment integration, etc.
- Responsible for the operation and maintenance of all backend projects of the company
- Responsible for the development of the wilddata-payment-module project, providing a unified payment channel and payment application configuration, facilitating the integration of payment functions for new applications

Tarro
Software Developer

Apr 2023 - Apr 2024

- Responsible for the backend development of the restaurant POS software, ensuring the system's performance, scalability, and reliability.
- Designed the data structure of the order module to facilitate smooth and efficient order management. This included supporting operations such as order creation, updates, retrieval, and real-time status tracking to meet the business requirements of a fast-paced restaurant environment
- Define and implement the API for the POS ordering
- Migrate the menu data from the legacy POS system
- Implement different printing logic

Shopee
Senior Software Developer

Aug 2019 - Mar 2023

- Responsible for the overall technical solution design
- Acted as the project PIC, controlled the project progress, scheduled and divided the tasks, and promptly managed risks, successfully delivering the project on time
- Acted as the Code Review PIC for the team and regularly organized weekly CR review meetings, effectively improving the team's code quality
- Optimized the performance of the billing API, The number of db connections was reduced from 4k+ to 1k+, and the single machine-supported QPS increased from 2k+ to 5k+
- Actively shared technical knowledge and gave 5 internal presentations

Huawei
Software Developer

Jul 2017 - Aug 2019

- Independently designed, developed, tested, deployed, and launched the middleware CodeHubEdge, enabling internal interfaces to be opened to third-party services.
- Responsible for writing, optimizing, testing, and maintaining business code related to code repository operations.
- Read GitLab source code and blogs during the job and output a series of GitLab-related blog posts.